HISTORIC LANDMARK BURNS TO GROUND

Isaiah Moody Shop Was a
Memory as Well as a Structure.

The work shop on the Isaiah Moody place burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon. The origin of the fire is not known but it started on the second floor. Workmen at the A. G. Moody house first saw the flames and called the fire department but it was practically demolished before they could operate the extinguishers. The furniture on the lower floor which was stored there was saved.

Isaiah Moody in his late years had this shop for furniture repairing, restoring of antiques and the making of miniature reproductions of antiques. Many enjoyed visiting at his shop not only for his workmanship but for his philosophy and reminiscences.

This estate is now occupied in the summer months by his daughters, Mrs. James Orr and Mrs. Buck.

LEGION'S APOLOGY FOR VODVIL SHOW

Feel That They Owe Some Explanation to the People of Northfield.

The vaudeville show, sponsored by the American Legion, given in the town hall on Wednesday evening, was not sold to seating capacity by a good deal and the Legion are out of pocket some considerable sum, as the outcome. Moreover, they feel that they owe an apology to the people of Northfield for such a show as was given.

It was booked from an important bureau in Boston, whose representative came on here and attended a general meeting of the Post. The whole thing was gone into at that time and the class of entertainment offered was guaranteed by this bureau representative to be of a fine, high-class nature, such as the people of this town would enjoy and appreciate. To the great indignation of the committee in charge, while the music and much of the comedy of the trio was excellent, it was interlarded with stories and jests not fit for such an occasion. The committee would have stopped the show at once and refunded the money to all, if they had realized that this sort of thing would continue. But, of course, they thought that each bad break would be the last.

It is hoped that the public will appreciate the painful position of the Post in this matter and will place the blame for the whole matter upon the bureau, who handle such a class of performance; and not upon the Post itself. Of one thing the public can rest assured; that never again will the Post be tricked in such a way.

VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Northfield Village Improvement society will be held in Dickinson Memorial hall on Monday evening, May 13 at 7.30 o'clock. Anyone interested in the work of the society is invited to attend.

Mrs. Amelia Bush Field

Mrs. Amelia DeBlais Bush Field, 82, widow of Joseph W. Field, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Blake in Weston last Friday night. The funeral was held at the home of her daughter on Monday afternoon and the body was brought here for interment in the family lot in the Center cemetery on Tuesday.

Mrs. Field was a daughter of Frederick T. and Elizabeth S. Bush of Boston and was born in Honk-kong, China, where her father was American consul in 1846. She was the first American child born in the consulate. She married Joseph W. Field of Boston in 1877 and they came to Northfield about 35 years ago to live. He died in 1906. She has made her home with her daughter the past 15 years.

Besides her daughter, she leaves one son, Joseph W. Field of this town, and seven grandchildren, Seth and Calvin Field of this town and Francis, Ruth, Elizabeth, Benjamin Blake, Jr., and Joan of Weston.

Those who knew Mrs. Field the years of her life here, found her a woman of much charm of personality and culture.

Her home at the corner of Main and Maple streets is one of the old Colonial houses of Northfield with much beauty in architecture.

"COQUETTE" AT THE VICTORIA THEATRE

In "Coquette" at the Victoria theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, Miss Pickford will be seen and heard as a willful, dazzling young Southern belle who defies family and convention for the man she loves.

With the exception of John Mack Brown, who came to the films from the college football gridiron, all of the players have been on the speaking stage. Every member of the cast was required to make extensive tests of both voice and photography before being chosen by Miss Pickford for a part in "Coquette." Those who have heard Miss Pickford's speaking performance in this film promise a sensation among audiences when her voice is heard, and they add that her appearance in "a wind-blown bob" for which she sacrificed her famous curls, will complete the surrender of her admiring world to the new order of things in the amazing Pickford career.

Excellent short pictures will complete the program. In order to accommodate out of town patrons, a continuous performance will be given on Sunday starting at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Robert McCasline joined his wife on Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Heald of Maple street.

PLANS FOR OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY

With the passing of the months of the year May has again come and with it a sense of the nearness of Memorial Day when we pay honor to the men who made their breasts a barricade between the nation and its foes. Let us then use this day not for sports but to quietly and serenely show our respect for those who under God have done so much for our beloved nation.

Plans for a proper observance of Memorial Day have so far advanced that it is time to send out the final notice to all the allied orders to take part in the same. Invitations and an outline of the program have been sent to the following orders: American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, Boys Brigade, Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts, Spanish War Veterans. All citizens of the town and the school children are also cordially invited to the exercises.

Following is the program:
Sunday, May 26th we shall meet at the Trinitarian Congregation church at 10:30 sharp, first going to Memorial vine worship. After the service we shall go to Vernon as in years past, dinner will be served at 12 o'clock (standard time) and at 2 p. m. the exercises in the Vernon church will take place, after which we shall go to the cemetery and decorate the graves of the veterans of all wars.

On May 30th we shall meet at the town hall, Northfield, at 10 o'clock (daylight time). The parade will start at 10:30 sharp, first going to Memorial hall to decorate the tablet, then to the Center cemetery for the usual exercises, and decoration of the graves. We will then return to the town hall where dinner will be served at 12:15 p. m. by the W. R. C. At 1:30 the exercises will take place. A full program will be given later.

The speaker will be the Hon. Fred W. Cross from the Adj. Gen. Office, Boston. The Legion Drum Corps of Orange will furnish music for the marching and Woods' orchestra will furnish music in the afternoon.

PRESBRY-LELAND CO.
TURNING OUT SOME LARGE SIZED JOBS

A Dummerston granite cross, one of the largest ever made in this country, is in process of finishing at the Presbry-Leland Studios plant on Vernon street. It is of white granite, and about May 20 will be shipped to its owner, Kenneth White of Winchendon, Mass., for erection on the family plot in the cemetery of that town.

When completed the cross and base will weigh about 55 tons. It stands 30 feet high over all, the arms being nine feet and nine inches across and two feet three inches thick. The base is 14 feet long, 11 feet wide and four feet high. Passion flowers are carved in a molded panel recessed into the face of the shaft. The whole when completed will be valued at $33,000.

Another interesting job now being done at the Presbry-Leland plant is that of a medium sized monument 11 feet 8 inches by five feet on the base and six feet high, to be erected in Forest Hill cemetery, Boston, for the family of Pietro P. Capioni, a noted sculptor. Resting on the base and flanking the die where the name appears are two life-size lions, all of permanent white Dummerston granite.

A handsome shaft is being finished for W. F. Hartranft for erection in Riverside cemetery, Norristown, Pa. This, too, is of Dummerston white granite without a flaw. The shaft alone is 27 feet high and two feet eight inches square. Its base is 10 feet high and eight feet three inches square.

Business is good with the Presbry-Leland company which now employs about 100 men at the shop and 40 men at the quarries in West Dummerston.

OLD BORDER POST
NOW TOURIST CAMPFort Wilkins Never Fired
Hostile Shot.

Fort Wilkins, Mich.—The unprotected borders of the United States and Canada, an oft-cited example that two peoples can live in peace, revives the story of Fort Wilkins, the last army post on the northern boundary line.

Not since its garrison marched away shortly after the Civil war have its confines echoed to martial tread. It now is a state park, and tourists camp beneath its trees, where sentries alert for the war cry of Indian braves once walked their posts.

Just a cannon shot away, across the water of Lake Superior, is the imaginary line separating Canada from the United States.

Never once in the life of the old fort was a gun fired from its confines. In hostility, Fort Wilkins was established in 1844, temporarily abandoned in 1846, reoccupied in 1869 and finally deserted in 1870.

The post was built at the end of Michigan's thumb, the Keweenaw peninsula, as a protection to early copper miners and settlers against Indian aggression. There, too, lurked in the minds of officials that the United States some day might need to defend its northern frontier.

The first garrisoned troops, who built the post, hewed the logs from virgin timber. Later the buildings were clapboarded and when the state took over the post the fort was well preserved.

Protecting the inclosure on the north and east was a stockade of posts, fastened with hand-made wooden pegs. Lake Fanny Hoo provided protection on the south side, and there was a rapidly flowing stream on the west.

The post, although somewhat modernized by the summer's flow of motorists, remains a page out of the past in the industrialized present of Michigan's copper country.

Green Bay, Wis.—A fourteen-year-old girl now rules the Menominee Indians—the first of her sex to head the tribe.

Previously it was announced that the chieftaincy would be taken over by Chief Ernest Oshkosh's brother, Reginald. The Menominees reside on a reservation near here.

Mr. Holt Likes Our Editorials
but Suggests Amendment

Editor
The Northfield Press
Northfield, Mass.
Permit me to congratulate you on the two splendid editorials in your issue of Friday, May 3.
Your editorial, "Good Advice," I would like to recommend to the attention of every young man in the country, although I, personally, feel that the prescription there presented, to enable the young man to achieve comfort and independence in middle life and later, ignores one of the greatest factors which the young man might well consider in formulating his plan for achieving success and future financial independence.

Many economists and financial authorities say to the young man, something like this: "Learn to save a part of what you earn, for it is not what you make that counts, but what you save out of what you make. But you are the young man of today just beginning life's journey, will some day doubtless be the head of a family with a wife and probably children dependent upon your income, or interested in a business in which your life will have a vital dollar value. When you have arrived at that stage you will doubtless appreciate the value of life insurance as protection for those dependent interests, in a way which is may be difficult for you to appreciate now."

And I do not speak of life insurance as something different from savings, for the plans which are available nowadays combine insurance protection and savings in a way which is decidedly advantageous to the men or women who take advantage of their opportunities.

There are plans available in some companies which enable a man or woman, through their savings and insurance plan, to build up by relatively small, systematic deposits, to a time when in middle life or thereabouts, he will find himself the owner of a cash estate of several thousand dollars; or that which may be even better than that, the insurance company will pay to him an annuity, or as some call it, a pension, which will come to him every single month as long as he lives, no matter how long that may be.

But as good as the insurance plan, as above presented, looks when it is considered that life insurance offers the only plan by which a man can save and be protected at the same time for an amount equal to the total which he might hope to save in any other way, if the prospective investor will look around a bit carefully he will find that it may be possible, through some insurance company, to secure a guarantee that if, through the misfortune of becoming disabled, by accident or sickness so that he can no longer ever work again, the insurance company will make his deposits for him and mature his savings just as though he, himself were making the deposits, and in some cases, in addition to that, the insurance company will start and pay investor a monthly income which, even though he may be as young as nineteen or twenty years old, will continue thereafter for the rest of his life.

Many years ago Benjamin Franklin said, "For age and want save while you may; No morning sun lasts all the day."

So get to it, young man. Get that saving habit. It will take you far and do much for you.

Yours truly,
Ernest C. Holt.

19 Skeletons Dug Up
in Old Berlin Church

Berlin.—In the course of renovating the Klosterkirche, the oldest church of Berlin, the workmen under their ecclesiastical expert, Doctor Steinberger, discovered a subterranean tomb filled with 18 skeletons of women that were identified as remains of the Eighteenth century. The skeletons were exhumed and buried elsewhere.

Within the last two centuries the Klosterkirche, built during the latter part of the Thirteenth century, has repeatedly proved a treasure trove for historical relics. Only last year a two-hundred-year-old sepulcher was unearthed, though neither in that nor in the present burial place were any objects of art value found.

Gently Tapping

Rochester, N. Y.—There was an instant tapping, as of some one gently tapping, at Mrs. George Ranker's window. It was not a black raven, but a white carrier pigeon, friendly and an utter stranger.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION
COURSES AVAILABLE
AT NOMINAL RATES

The latest course published by the entitled "Twenty Good Books for Parents" is now available through the Division of University Extension, State Department of Education. This course comes in the form of a pamphlet reviewing in brief paragraphs the twenty of concerning the upbringing of children. The books are not provided in the course but are to be obtained at the public library or purchased by the student. It is advised, however, that whenever possible the books be obtained at the public library since the American Library association is one of the organizations cooperating with the National Bureau of Education in promoting these courses.

The purpose of this course as explained in the pamphlet is to encourage the reading of some of the recent publications on various aspects of child life with reference to early development, health, moral training, adolescence, and the unusual child, as well as a few books include for the purpose of keeping parents in touch with school problems and the trend of modern education. Mere reading of the books does not constitute the entire work of the course, however. After each book has been read, the student is expected to submit a concise report or review of the material therein. This report is mailed to University Extension, State House, Boston. When the entire list of books has been read and all the reviews submitted, a certificate of the Massachusetts Department of Education is awarded. A nominal fee is charged.

Twelve other reading courses issued by the Bureau of Education are available thru State University Extension which also offers short unit home study courses for men and women who wish to undertake supervised study. More than two hundred such courses have been prepared, including English, accounting, shop mathematics, mechanical drawing, foreign languages, and numerous other subjects in academic, commercial and engineering branches.

Sea Scouts, Ahoy!

Thirty-five New England Scout Executives had their first taste of Sea Activities from April 20 to 29 when the Sea Scout Training School for Scout Executives convened at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. The course was brought to a successful conclusion with a cruise upon a coast guard destroyer.

Selected Recipes

EGYPTIAN DELIGHT SALAD

Flake one can salmon, and mix with one cup diced celery. Mix thoroughly with boiled salad dressing. Place lettuce leaves on a chop plate so that they reach out to the edge of the plate. In the center heap the salmon mixture, pyramid fashion, press lightly into the sides one dozen stuffed olives, having the red on the outside. Arrange around the edge two or three tomatoes, sliced, with a ball of cottage cheese (moistened with salad dressing) in center of each. Between each slice of tomato place a small radish with its green stem upwards.

NEAPOLITAN SURPRISE

2 tablespoons raspberry junket
2 tablespoons vanilla junket
2 tablespoons coffee junket
3 cups milk
(Or any combination of flavors you prefer.)

Prepare the raspberry junket with one cup of milk, following directions on package. Pour into six individual dessert glasses and let stand in a warm place until firm. Then prepare the vanilla junket with another cup of milk and very gently pour—or add with spoon—on top of the raspberry. When firm add the coffee junket, made with the third cup of milk. When this is firm, chill and serve topped with whipped cream.

Eddie Savoy Cannot Retire Yet

Eddie Savoy, the venerable dean of the messengers at the State department in Washington, who holds a continuous record of 58 years at the door of the office of the secretary of state, has received another stay of retirement at the request of Secretary Stimson. Eddie, who is seventy-four years of age, would have been retired at seventy, but at the intercession of the last three secretaries has been allowed to continue at his post. The photograph shows Eddie with Secretary of State Stimson in the latter's office.

Interpolated with a specially written theme song which is augmented by several catchy and jazzy novelty numbers, "The Broadway Melody," the spectacular all-talking, singing and dancing picture filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is now at the Victoria Theatre.

The entire musical score was written by Herb Brown, internationally famous composer of "The Doll Dance," "Moonlit Waters" and other popular hits, while the lyrics were written by Art Freed, responsible for Morrisey's "Exposures" and Carroll's "Pickings." The dialogue heard in the picture is from the prolific pen of James Gleason, noted star-producer of "Is Zat So?" and other stage hits.

GOOD MAPLE SAP STORY PROPERLY ATTESTED

The sap that Mrs. M. H. Brown caught from a Rock Maple tree on Wednesday and Thursday of April 24 and 25 was so very sweet that it turned to thick maple syrup out of doors with no boiling, whatever. After she carried it into the house in 2 or 3 days it turned into maple sugar so hard she could hardly cut it with a knife, with no boiling at all. Now who can beat that record, sugar makers? The above sounds like a "fish yarn" but there was a witness to the affair and said witness and herself had some of the maple syrup to eat.

Russia Draws Many Workers From U. S.

Riga, Latvia.—Consular officials in Riga estimate that 30,000 former residents of the United States are living in Soviet Russia.

Every month more enter and others come out, while many of those who remain bombard the American consulate, across the frontier in Riga, with letters pleading for papers that would permit them to return to America.

Most of the thousands who have gone into Russia since the revolution, looking for a worker's earthly paradise, are living in small towns, communes and villages.

They are brought to Riga by steamship companies in large parties and sent into Russia from here. Each immigrant is obliged on entering a red commune to have a minimum capital of $300 and to surrender his American passport before entering the new world that Lenin created.

Chew of Tobacco Solves Mystery of Burglaries

York, Neb.—A chew from a plug of tobacco was the undoing here of Leon Hudson and led officers to the discovery of the perpetrator of more than forty burglaries in and near York county during January and February. Hudson had been arrested as a suspect.

The burglar apparently had worked with gloves, as no finger prints were found, and the only clues left were footprints and a plug of tobacco from which a bite had been taken, leaving a perfect imprint of teeth.

The sheriff at Aurora played cards with a number of prisoners and invited all to "have a chew." Hudson was the only one to accept and his teeth prints were found to be like those in the state's exhibit. He later made a confession to all burglaries of which he had been suspected.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF WASHINGTON TRIP OF THE SENIOR CLASS

"I have had my money's worth already," was a remark heard at the end of the first day of our trip, a day which had included a sight-seeing trip around Philadelphia. This opinion was voiced in effect by every member of our party. We cannot answer emphatically enough in the affirmative when people ask us, "Was it worth while?" or "Did you get your money's worth?" The value we received from the trip is immeasurable. The effect is more far reaching than anyone of us can estimate.

New Hampshire was well represented in Washington last week. Over two hundred students, coming from Peterboro, Hancock, Milford, Antrim, Farmington, Dover, Somersworth and Hinsdale High schools, arrived Saturday evening. Hinsdale High school was located at Hotel Driscoll, directly in front of the capitol.

Sunday morning every member of the party attended some church. In the afternoon, in spite of a thunder shower and downpour of rain, we went on a sight-seeing trip around Washington. The rain ceased long enough for us to get out of the bus and visit the tomb of the unknown soldier and the Memorial Amphitheatre at Arlington National cemetery. Sunday evening we visited the Congressional Library.

Monday morning our first visit was to the office of Senator Keyes. He talked to us at length on the changes to be made in Washington during the next few years, showing us on a map the sites of erection for many new buildings. From his office we were taken via subway to the capitol building. We would need a great deal of space to begin to tell you of the wonders of this, the heart of our nation. From here we went to the White House, where by special permission we visited the state dining room, the blue room, the East room and several others.

Monday afternoon we visited the House of Representatives. The latter part of the afternoon was free. Many of us took advantage of this time and visited the Franciscan Monastery, a Memorial church of the Holy Land. Monday evening found us at "Broadway Melody."

Tuesday was a particularly well-spent day. We visited the department of printing and engraving, where the new money is being prepared for circulation, the Pan American Congress, the Lincoln Memorial and the museums. The "Spirit of St. Louis," perhaps, attracted the most attention. The afternoon will surely never be forgotten. It was at this time that we visited Mount Vernon. A perfect day gave a superb setting for this matchless picture. Altho we returned to Washington by boat we made the trip to Mount Vernon by trolley in order to visit Christ church and the Masonic lodge at Alexandria, Va., of which Washington was worshipful master.

Tuesday evening brought an especially delightful event in the form of a dance given by the New Hampshire delegation in Congress to the visiting New Hampshire schools. This is the first time anything of this nature has been done for school children.

The rest of our trip we must sketch hastily—Wednesday found us en route to New York. In the evening we went to the Amsterdam theatre where we saw "Whoopie!" The following morning was free for shopping and sight-seeing. In the afternoon, a sight-seeing trip took us to Riverside Drive, stopping at Grant's Tomb, down Fifth avenue, Broadway and Wall street, and continued down into the slum section. The final stop was made at the Aquarium. Five o'clock found us on board ship, and after a stormy night we reached Boston at 8 o'clock Friday morning. The party broke up here to meet again at 3:45 ready to get in the bus, which would return us to Keene.

Everyone returned home safely after seven decidedly well spent days away from home. Much of the success and pleasure of our trip was due to the efforts of our guide, G. Milan Smith, of Brattleboro, Vt. He spared himself not at all in planning for us and aiding us in every way.

May we take this opportunity of thanking the people of Hinsdale who have supported us and made possible for us this most wonderful trip.

The Senior Class.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

FOR A CHIC DAY

Several features of outstanding newness testify the springtime smartness of this charming afternoon frock. First, bertha collars are very much worn in Paris just now, especially with a short sleeved frock. Again, the soft double tiers of the skirt are very chic—a frock you need.

For smart morning shopping, or quite informal tea in the afternoon, the frock on the right is smartly perfect. Its vestee of piqué or silk is much in vogue for spring. The scalloping is another popular note, and the inverted V point of the irregular bodice is absolutely correct.

Famous Rubens Canvas Lost 100 Years, Found

Berlin.—A famous painting by Rubens, "David's Fight With the Bear," which has been lost for more than a hundred years, has been found in a shop of a Berlin art dealer. It is one of eight pictures taken by Rubens on his mission to the Spanish court in 1614, and was last seen in 1827.

Its authenticity has been testified to by Dr. Wilhelm Bode, one of Europe's greatest art authorities, and Dr. Ludwig Burchard.

The history of the painting since its disappearance has not been divulged, though it is believed it was the property of a German prince who has been compelled to sell the picture because of straitened circumstances. The prince's name is kept secret, though in certain circles there is speculation the painting was in the possession of the former crown prince.

Condition of Bridges

The conditions of the bridges at Millers Falls and at Montague Center, which were believed to be in serious condition, have been found upon inspection to be in much better shape than was thought. The bridges were inspected by Chief George Harkness of the bridge department of the State Department of Public Works.

The inspector went over both bridges carefully and will estimate on the expense necessary to put the bridges in good condition. His report will be presented to the selectmen within a few days. The Millers Falls bridge can be put into shape again with the insertion of a few stringers.

More work will be necessary on the saw mill bridge at Montague Center, but it is thought now that a little work in the right places will remove necessity for a larger expense.

Young People Will Be Young People

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Youth has always taken chances wherever we find youth, and in the eyes of middle age has ever leaned toward unconventional-ty. No one hates advice and regulation so much as young people; they are eager to go their own way and possibly not more so today than they have previously been.

I am just reading Northanger Abbey, written one hundred and thirty years ago, so Miss Austen's biographer says. Isabella reckless and daring to ignore the conventions of the time, was going off unchaperoned in an open carriage to drive fifteen miles or so with her brother John and Mr. Morland. It was as bad as if a pair of lovers today should park their car on a side road at midnight with the lights out. Catherine was discussing the matter with the Allens whose guest she was at Bath.

"Well," said Mr. Allen, "do you think of going too?"

"No, I had just engaged myself to walk with Miss Tilney before they told me of it; and therefore, you know, I could not go with them, could I?"

"No, certainly not," Mr. Allen replied, "and I am glad you do not think of it. These schemes are not at all the thing. Young men and young women driving about the country in open carriages! Now and then it is very well; but going to inns and public places together! It is not right; and I wonder Mrs. Thorpe should allow it. I am glad you do not think of going; I am sure Mrs. Morland would not be pleased. Mrs. Allen, are you of my thinking? Do not you think these kind of projects objectionable?"

"Yes, very much so, indeed. Open carriages are nasty things," Mrs. Allen replied, thinking more of her clothes than of the awful immorality of which the wild young people were committing. "A clean gown is not five minutes wear in them. You are splashed getting in and getting out; and the wind takes your hair and your bonnet in every direction. I hate an open carriage myself."

"I know you do; but that is not the question. Do not you think it has an odd appearance if young ladies are frequently driven about in them by young men to whom they are not even related?"

"Yes, my dear, a very odd appearance, indeed. I cannot bear to see it."

And then Mr. Allen, more philosophic possibly than his wife, "But one must not be over particular. Young people will be young people as your good mother says herself."

Young people do not like to be at ways thwarted."

No more do they today any more than they did one hundred and thirty years ago when Jane Austen was a girl. Perhaps the best solution is not to take their irregularities too seriously but to be philosophical about it as Mr. Allen was. They are going to do quite as they please anyway in spite of our protests.

Taller at Night or Morning?

Between the vertebrae of our backbone there is a cartilage disk which serves to absorb the shock of bodily movement. After being up all day these cartilages are said to be squeezed a little flatter and thus we are slightly shorter when bed time comes. Reclining and rest restores the elasticity and we arise at morning slightly taller.

What the New Pest Does to Oranges

Far worse than a score of hurricanes in its effect on the orange groves is the Mediterranean citrus fly that has made its appearance in Florida, especially about Orlando, where this photograph was made. President Hoover asked congress to give $4,250,000 to check the inroads of the pest.

WHO IS AMERICA'S SWEETHEART? MOTHER

Who is America's Sweetheart? A gray-haired woman, neither beautiful nor famous, has come to the fore in the last few years to claim this distinction. Her name is Mother, and she takes the center of the stage on Sunday, May 12, which now nationally observed as Mother's Day.

Proof that this title belongs to her is offered by the National Confectioner's association, which reports that gifts of candy for Mother's Day are more numerous and costly than for any other holiday except Christmas. Even Valentine's Day is less important.

These are not all old-fashioned peppermints or borehound drops, either. Mother's sweet tooth seems as catholic in its tastes as it is capacious. She likes chocolates of all kinds, candies. Fruit centers are high favorites; so are nuts and caramels and the chewy sweets.

The packages that fond sons and daughters are selecting are trimmed in ribbons and artificial flowers. Some bear old fashioned silhouettes and others are gay with crimson and gold. Tender mottoes and fervent inscriptions assure the recipient of her child's undying devotion.

Mother, no doubt, is a popular person the world over. But America is the only country where on a certain anniversary she is showered with gifts of candy and flowers that bring back the days of her youth.

Rides 90 Miles Each Morning to His Class

Seattle, Wash.—When Raymond Jauregui is graduated from the University of Washington he will be fully prepared to catch the 7:48 train for the office. He might well be said to be majoring in commuting.

Every day he makes a 90-mile trip to an eight o'clock class, and he is always on time.

Jauregui lives in Tacoma. When he leaves home in the dark of morning, he takes a 30-minute street car ride, then boards a train and comes to Seattle and takes a street car to the campus.

"I study on the train," he said. "Nobody disturbs you." It was believed Jauregui holds a national record for distance traveled regularly by a student.

Table Salt Substitute for Ailing Is Discovered

Atlantic City, N. J.—Dr. John Q. Krantz, Jr., chemist and lecturer at Johns Hopkins hospital, announced at a joint meeting of the state boards of pharmacy and delegates from the faculties of colleges of pharmacy of the East, the discovery of Eka salt, a substitute for table salt for the use of those afflicted with high blood pressure, Bright's disease and dropsy.

Eka salt is a sodium salt of malic acid. Malic acid is obtained from apples. It satisfies the craving for salt, according to Doctor Krantz, and its reaction in the body is quite different from that of common salt.

"The ordinary table salt," he said, "tends to create water in the body. The new sodium salt of the acid is burned up or metabolized in the body and serves as an alkali-producing food and tends to counteract acidosis. Because it is burned up or metabolized, it does not tax the kidneys."

Old Yankee Clipper

anchors in Thames

London.—Ancient galleons and American clippers vie for honors in an exhibition of old ships models now drawing crowds of children—and grown-ups, too—to the Friend Ship, a beautiful old three-masted vessel which, under American auspices, has been anchored in the Thames as a clubhouse. Among the most interesting exhibits is a model, made in 1780, of an American clipper of the 16-gun corvette type. An Elizabethan galleon nearby makes a striking contrast. Other favorite models are an Italian felucca such as used to fight the Moorish pirates, a two-decker fighting ship of the Nelson type and a fine model of a Norwegian fruit carrier.

A Dollar Dinner for Four

HERE'S a feast for four people which won't cost more than a dollar if you watch your local markets and buy with care:

Cream of Celery Soup with
Crownets ..... 17
Country Lamb and Carrot Pie ..... 40
Dressed Chicory ..... 09
Bread and Butter ..... 08
Scalloped Pineapple and Rhubarb ..... 21
Demi-Tasse ..... 03
Total ..... $0.98

This makes 98 cents and leaves two cents for extras. Let's see how the dietitian figured it out. For the first course, one can of celery soup costs 10 cents, a cup and a half of milk 6 cents and the crownets only a cent. The pie is the most expensive dish. A pound of lamb breast costs 25 cents, an 8-ounce can of carrots 10 cents, a pound and a quarter of potatoes 3 cents and seasonings 2 cents. A bunch of chicory costs 5 cents and the dressing 4 cents.

Use Half This Recipe

For the dessert, half of a number 2 can of crushed pineapple costs 10 cents, a half pound of rhubarb 20 cents, sugar 1 cent, salt, nutmeg and butter 7 cents, and a cup and a half of dry bread crumbs 3 cents. This makes 41 cents, but the recipe serves eight, so half of it is sufficient for one meal.

Here's how you make it: Mix the pineapple and rhubarb cut in small pieces, one-third cup sugar, a few grains of salt and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Melt four table-spoons butter and add the crumbs. Put alternate layers of fruit and crumbs in a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven, 375°, for 30 minutes. Serve with sweetened top milk.

Lester L. Collier

Lester L. Collier, 72, for many years a well known and respected resident of this town, died last week Thursday afternoon after an illness which had extended over several weeks.

Mr. Collier was born in Northfield, the son of Ansel J. and Loris (Robbins) Collier and spent his boyhood there. He had been a resident of Erving for over 40 years. He had worked at different periods on the Boston and Maine section, in the chair factory and of late years had been employed by the Millers Falls Tool Co. He was an active member of the Congregational church and a deacon, also a member of the Millers River Grange, the Erving Brotherhood and Men's Bible class.

He is survived by one brother, Melvin J. Collier of Orange and two daughters, Mrs. Fred C. Rankin and Mrs. E. J. Gorman, both of Erving and three grand children, Mrs. Marion Rankin Turner of Erving and Mrs. Charles Seddons and Francis Phillips, both of Albany, N. Y.

Mr. Collier was a man of many fine qualities and was well liked by all who knew him. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Congregational church, Rev. D. E. Holt officiating. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery in Athol.

POSSIBLE THAT NEW INDUSTRIES MAY START

The announcement last week that the Heywood-Wakefield Co. had decided to move its local business to the main plant in Gardner with the subsequent closing of the Erving factory, has naturally caused a pessimistic attitude among many. Particularly those who own homes are wondering what effect it will have on real estate values and their chances of disposing the same if forced to leave town.

Approximately 50 employees will be affected by the shut-down. It is not reasonable to believe, however, that such a model factory as the local plant is, can remain idle for long and those of an optimistic mind have hopes that before many months have passed something very definite will be taking shape.

Rumors are circulating with much persistency that other concerns are to take it over and the employment personnel greatly enlarged. So far as can be ascertained, however, these are only rumors thus far. It is probable that a few of the present employees will accompany the business to Gardner but of course there are many who have lived here all their lives and will be loathe to leave. It is fortunate that business is good at the paper mill and also at the Millers Falls Co., a fact which will make it possible for many to secure employment and thus remain in Erving. Many have grown up in the chair industry and prefer this line of work but could if necessary adapt themselves to other lines of work.

The business men of the town are not down-hearted yet and believe that to every cloud there is a silver lining. The chair shop has not been the thriving place it was in former years due to a slackening in the entire chair industry in the east and for some time there has been a fear that a change would be made.

It is understood that work on the new state road from Orange to Farley will commence at once. Engineers in charge have been in Erving and vicinity all the past week.

Hugh Mezerall has recovered from his recent illness but is still confined to his home.

Edward M. Turner is seriously ill at his home. He suffered a shock on Saturday p. m. and his left side is paralyzed. Mrs. Neal Turner of Southbridge and Mrs. George Shepard of Concord are helping care for him, as is E. F. Gorman of Erving.

Elsie Dale began working in Greenfield last week.

Miss Mavorette Blackmer and three other teachers in the Gardner High school left last week Saturday for a week's trip to Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Lilla Brown spent last week Sunday with her daughter, Pearl, at Mt. Holyoke college.

Mrs. Byron Moulton and children expect to join Mr. Moulton in Keene, N. H., next month. They have secured a tenement and will go at the close of the local schools.

Lester Hallett and George Burnett went to Millers Falls last week Thursday morning to assist in directing traffic which was interrupted Wednesday as a result of the weakened condition of the Millers Falls bridge caused it is claimed by the large number of heavy trucks which have been going over it of late. Wayne Brooks was also sworn in as a special officer to direct the traffic during the night.

The chief clerk of the Railway mail service from Boston was on a tour of inspection through western Mass. on Wednesday and stopped at the local office. He was anxious to know about the opinion of people with regard to the rail service in handling mail and showed much satisfaction that the Boston and Maine railroad had decided to retain the morning train going east.

Reuben Thibodeau and son, are making extensive improvements and repairs on the former Severance place opposite the post office.

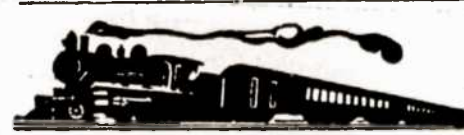

"Bill" Brown wishes to announce to the motoring public that he is ready to attend to all their needs at his new garage in the former Burnett blacksmith shop.

Once there was a young husband who did not like hash. His wife ran across a French cookbook and was delighted to find the many ways she could use up leftovers. The next night she had one of the fancy mixtures in a covered dish. The husband reached over and raised the cover, but the wife said: "Why don't you ask the blessing first, dear?" Whereupon the husband replied: "I don't believe there is anything here that hasn't been already blessed." (Pathfinder.)

The Evening Auxiliary

There were thirty-two members and guests present at the annual meeting of the Evening Auxiliary held at Kellogg's Inn Friday evening, May 3rd.

The president of the Northfield Seminary Alumnae association, Miss Harriet A. Broad, of Brookline, Mass., gave an inspiring talk on a rather unusual subject "What Color Am I?" She advanced the original theory that personality has color, just as much as certain tones of music have certain colors associated with them. To her, the pessimist was a black person, the well-bred person was blue, the yellow person was one who caught, held and reflected the light, the red person was stimulating, the brown was practical with his feet on the ground, lavender was the shadow person, while purple was the strong, tolerant person, the impractical person was white and the busy person was green or the growing color.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Dr. Florence Colton; vice-presidents, Miss Alice B. Mundee and Mrs. Ross Spencer; secretary, Miss Elizabeth Braley; treasurer, Miss Helen Handy; chairman of the invitation committee, Miss Virginia Smith; chairman of the work committee, Miss Florence Warriner.

In a case in which damages were claimed for assault, a carpenter who had been subpoenaed as a witness was asked by counsel what distance he was from the parties when he saw the plaintiff struck.

"Just four feet five inches and a half," the carpenter answered.

"Please tell me," said counsel, "how it is possible you can be so very exact as to the distance."

"Well, to tell you the truth," replied the carpenter, "I thought some fool might ask me, so I measured it." (Pathfinder.)

"Well, Horace," remarked Mrs. Crabb as she looked up from her fashion page. "The French authorities on dress say that formal evening gowns for women are longer this winter."

"Longer," snorted Crabb. "Piffle! The only thing that's any longer about the party gowns I've seen is the shoulder straps."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE W. C. T. U.

On Wednesday, May 15, at 3 o'clock the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold their annual meeting in the ladies parlor of the Congregational church.

The response to a call for a marching song for the local union's use during the temperance gathering at the Summer Conference, such as was held with Mrs. Peabody in the Auditorium last summer, Mrs. Carl Mason composed the following to be sung to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

Here among old Northfield's hills,
Where the shadows softly lie,
When Connecticut flows gently on its way,
In the valley that we love,
Dear old hill who gather here,
We meet and plan, and work, nor cease to pray.

Chorus:

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the hosts are marching,
Northfield Union bids you come,
And beneath our banner white, floating o'er the earth's dark night,
We unite in common cause for our loved homes.

Bound with you in ties of love,
As with you we seek the right;
Knowing that in union strength and might doth lie,
May we work for that glad day,
When best Truth o'er earth holds away,
Ever guided, kept by Him who rules on High.

Test ye forget that here we sleep,
The trust ye made with us to keep,
To you appeal we from the dead,
To you who live; to you who said
That war's last harvest we should reap.

'Twas ours to die; be yours to weep;
Reminded by the tears ye shed
That here we died for you, and bled,
Last ye forget.

Above our graves the grasses creep;
Our crosses frail, battlements deep,
Confront time's leveling onsets dread
As scythe-like o'er the earth they sweep.
This say we from our foreign bed,
Last ye forget.

Quip—What's the matter with that physical wreck over there? Has he had the flu?

Quick—No, but he did everything people told him would keep it off. (Pathfinder.)

PARENT TEACHER ASS'N.
HAD FINE PROGRAM

Burr F. Jones of Boston, supervisor of elementary education under the state department of education, was the speaker at the town hall Monday evening at a joint meeting of the five towns in the superintendency of Mr. Robbins.

He gave an illustrated lecture on "New Schools for 1929," showing the great advance in methods and equipment in public schools. Danville W. Robbins, superintendent of this school district, which includes besides Northfield, the towns of Bernardston, Gill, Leyden and Warwick, was presiding chairman.

Previous to the address a musical program was given by Northfield Seminary talent. Miss Viva Faye Richardson, pianist, rendered "The Music Box," by Liatton; and "Ballade" by Chopin. Miss Ruth Snagg, violinist, gave Londonderry Airs and Traumerel.

The event was held under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association of this town and representatives from all the districts were present. Mrs. F. W. Pattison of the program committee arranged the excellent program.
